Rising Star Company Award

This award is open to all energy companies established after January 2012.

The Rising Star Company recognizes the achievements of either a genuine startup business or an existing business that has moved into a brand-new field.

Judges will look for businesses that are establishing themselves as a key player in any energy or chemical discipline including investments, finance and trade. Entrants may include companies with a regional focus that have successfully positioned themselves on the world stage, investing or trading startups that are gaining ground on established giants, or energy businesses that have shifted their entire focus into another section of the value chain.

In the interests of evaluating track records, judges will consider businesses created since January 2012.
