Rising Star Individual Award

Open to non-CEO executives or business unit leaders who are driving excellence in energy, chemicals, energy investment, finance or policy.

A transformational company that shifts the industry's focus must have a champion on the front line that can take a complex strategy and execute it with precision and deliver clear, impressive results. These trailblazers likely have their sights set on the top spot of an organization.

Judges will be looking for a leader who personifies innovation, creates opportunities and ultimately delivers results. While this individual may not be new to their industry, the Rising Star Individual will have made the most remarkable strides in their career, inevitably influencing their industry.

Covering performance from January 2017, judges will consider all non-CEO senior managers and executives.
